

Livingston

A few days ago a man came to our town and asked to see the board of trustees, when Mr. I. Catlin, clerk of the board, was pointed out to him. Later we learned his mission and it was that he wanted permission to put up a malt mead stand in our town. But we are pleased to know that the privilege was denied him. We have a nice quiet town at present and we hope to see it remain that way, and we will say to the board: Stand by your decision. We are satisfied that nine-tenths of the people of the town are against this drink.

Citizens, just think back only a few years ago, what a condition this town was in at that time, and such stuff was sold then. We hope the dark days for Livingston are past. Boys, stand by your decision, we are all with you.

Miss Dortha Owens, of Spira, was here Sunday en route home from Berea where she has been attending school. We are having the coldest weather of the season being below zero for the first time in a few years. This reminds us of a little anecdote told on Champ Mullins a few years ago when thermometers first came around. Champ had been to Mt. Vernon and had come back home and some one asked him how cold it was at Mt. Vernon. He answered that he went in at Milt Mullers and the thermometer was three big inches below zero. C. L. Black is moving his family to property on High street.

Miss Nettie Rice has been confined to her room for the past week with grip, but at present she is much better. Our town was shocked Tuesday night by two robberies. J. H. Browning was called from his room and two men drew a pistol on him and demanded his money. The pay car had just paid off the employees and it is supposed the men thought they would get Mr. Browning's month salary. The same men held up a brakeman near the river bridge and robbed him of $1.50. Later George Mullins and Fred Elkins were arrested and taken to Mt. Vernon. E. B. Owens is learning the night yard work at Livingston. I. W. Catlin, J. H. Browning, Hubert Niceley, Judge Summers and Marshal Riggs went to Mt. Vernon Wednesday. Mrs. Thomas Jones and two children have been very sick for the past week. George Griffin, Jr. has been very sick for some time is some better. Prof. Wilson was called to Lebanon on account of the death of some of his relatives. E. C. Herd received a message from Hamilton Ohio, stating that his father, B. Herd, was dead. He was buried in Hamilton, Ohio. Wonder what has become of our friend, James Maret, the Boone Way booster. Would be glad to see a few lines from that famous writer. Mrs. David Smith, who has been very sick for some time, continues about the same.

I. M. Turpin, of Langford Station, who has been confined to his room for some time with rheumatism, passed here Sunday en route to French Lick Springs in Indiana. There will be a Fifth Sunday meeting at the Baptist church and a large crowd is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, of Mt. Vernon, are with Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Ponder. El Hansel claims that he has green cabbage growing in his garden. We have not seen the cabbage ourselves but we have El's word for it and that is O. K. Mrs. F. M. Marshbanks and little daughter, were in Mt. Vernon, Saturday. Rev. Jones, of London, filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cottergem were called to Pine Hill, Monday, on account of the illness of Mr. Cottergem's sister. J. B. Hayse, who has been very sick is slowly improving. Ben Griffin, who has had a spell of the grip is able to beat his post again. W. R. Ward has had a few days' tussel with grip but is able to work again. Little Burges Griffin has been confined to his room with pneumonia for several days, but now is convalescent. Mrs. Hugh Jenkins, who has been very sick for some time continues very low. Mrs. Daniel Ponder, who has been very sick for some time is rapidly improving. We are just recovering from a severe siege of cold, called in English grip, but what puzzles us is whether we have had grip, or grip has had us. Miss Jalett Griffin, who has been suffering with a broken arm has almost recovered. W. I. Sparks, of Mt. Vernon, was here between trains, Tuesday. Willie, Miss Marie and Leslie Rambo all have been confined to their rooms for a few days with grip. Jack Carpenter, after a hard struggle with grip is some better. Mrs. A. E. Albright and Mrs. J. W. Tate, of Brodhead, were here between trains Thursday en route home from Langford, Ky.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Citizens bank, this city, an eight per cent. dividend was declared, six hundred dollars was placed to surplus, one hundred dollars to undivided profits and the furniture and fixture account reduced considerably. It will be remembered that this institution under a former management lost some money, after one year of strenuous effort it was found that sure success was just ahead, and the past year was the banner year of the bank's life when it made thirteen per cent on its capital. Cashier Hiatt is to be congratulated upon the business manner in which he conducted banking, and the great success he has brought to this institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roberts of Rileys, were the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Owens. In our letter last week we stated that there was a seventy-four pound pumpkin on display at the Citizens bank that was raised by Uncle Marshall Smith, the printer reversed our figures making it read forty-seven Personally a mistake of this character makes no difference, but to the man that raises pumpkins that weigh seventy-four pounds and upward, it is doing him a great injustice to reverse figures. Then again we said that Miss Elizabeth Gently was teaching school for her "sister," and the printer looked at a passing circus, and made our letter read "brother, instead. Born to the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Chandler a fine baby boy last Friday. Mrs. L. M. Browne, of Louisville, is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Frith. Mrs. J. W. Tate and Mrs. A. E. Albright were with their brother, Bub Turpin, at Langford last week. Mr. Turpin has a severe attack of rheumatism. He accompanied his sisters home Sunday, and on Monday left for French Lick Springs, Ind., where he hopes to be benefited. George W. Frith died at his home near here Tuesday morning, and his remains were laid to rest in the Oak Hill cemetery Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Frith had been in a serious condition for several months, and his death was no surprise to those who knew of his condition. Besides his widow he is survived by seven small children. James Pike left Sunday for Detroit, Mich., where he has a position. His brother, J. Pen Pike resides in this northern city, and is making good with the Detroit Street Railway Company. Mrs. Susie Sharp and family now live in Cincinnati, having moved there about three weeks ago. C. H. Frith is all smiles again, its a girl. About three weeks ago our good friend Julian Bordes was tried and convicted in the Rockcastle Circuit Court on the charge of pistol totting, the sentence being $50.00 fine, ten days confinement in the county jail, and carried with it a disfranchisement of two years. Mr. Bordes, thru his attorney, filed motion for a new trial, and the day was set for the argument of the case, and while waiting for the day to arrive he boarded the train for Frankfort, where he interceded with Gov. Stanley, secured a full pardon for the imprisonment and the trimmings, returned home feeling considerably better because of the fact that he did not have to board with James Winstead ten days and that he would cast his vote hereafter as usual. Uncle Dave Hurt is very sick with grip. The doctors also report a number of other grip victims.

FOR RHEUMATISM

As soon as an attack of rheumatism begins apply Sloan's Liniment. Don't waste time and suffer unnecessary agony. A few drops of Sloan's Liniment on the affected parts is all you need. The pain goes at once.

A grateful sufferer writes: "I was suffering for three weeks with chronic rheumatism and stiff neck, although I tried many medicines, they failed, and I was under the care of a doctor. Fortunately I heard of Sloan's Liniment and after using it three or four days am well. I am employed at the biggest department store in S. Blasting Ground For Tree Planting

Much has been written on how to plant a tree or trees, but if the experience of scores of famous orchardists have any weight on the topic, then the practice of using dynamite preliminary to planting young trees has fully proved its merits.

The writer has personally seen specific examples of the value and excellence of tree planting with dynamite on a private orchard in Delaware, the difference in growth between the undynamited tree and the tree planted in blasted ground being so unmistakably in favor of the latter that no adequate comparison could be made.

Furthermore, there are so many sane and logical reasons for this method of tree planting that even the most skeptical could not fail to be convinced. Obviously when a tree has to use a large part of its energies in forcing its roots through the hard soil it cannot be expected to make the same rapid growth and come into such Blasting for tree planting is best done in the fall, because at this time of the year it is easier to catch the subsoil in dry condition. Blasting in the spring for spring planting, however, is much better than planting in dug holes, notwithstanding the fact that the subsoil is apt to be wet or damp.

If the holes are blasted in advance of the time of setting the trees they are left without further attention until tree planting time, unless it is desirable to add some manure or fertilizer to be diffused through the soil. This is an excellent practice, especially in poor soil. If the earth is sour, sticky clay a few pounds of lime scattered in the hole will materially assist in dissolving the clay and keeping it permanently granulated and sweet.

Immediately after the blast the soft blasted ground should be dug out down to the location of the charge, where a hole will usually be found about the size of a bushel basket. This early bearing as a tree would that had the ground in which it was planted thoroughly prepared by dynamiting beforehand.

No tree should be planted over hardpan or impacted subsoil without first resorting to blasting, so that the soil may be made open and porous. Such blasting not only creates channels, increases absorption of soil moisture and permits deeper rooting, but it also insures better growth and larger yields.

must be filled to prevent settling of the tree after planting. The roots should be placed in a natural position in good top soil, covered with more top soil and treaded down firm. The hole can then be filled to a little above the surface with subsoil.

The fact that nearly all commercial orchardists use this method proves that it pays in reduced first year loss, earlier fruiting and larger and better yields.

Priming a Dynamite Cartridge

To properly prime a dynamite or farm powder cartridge four things are essential—the cap, the fuse, the cartridge and a crimping tool. The method in itself is very simple.

First crimp the priming cap about the fuse, using the crimping tool as shown in the illustration. Next punch a diagonal hole in the cartridge with the end of the crimping tool, making the hole deep enough to entirely bury the cap. Insert the cap into this hole and tie the fuse to the side of the cartridge.

tridge securely with a stout piece of cord. If the job is done carefully and correctly the entire outfit will look like illustration No. 4, and the priming will be complete. Ignorance, fear or carelessness are the causes of most accidents. There through it, then insert in another diagonal hole below the first hole. No tying is necessary to hold the cap in the cartridge. This method is called "lacing the fuse through the cartridge." It is unsafe and unreliable. The fuse is likely to break at the sharp turns and the powder train spit fire through the break, setting fire to the cartridge instead of exploding it, or the fuse may miss fire altogether, leaving an unexploded charge in the hole, or it may hang fire for half an hour or half a day and cause a serious accident. Short cuts do not pay in handling explosives.

Digging a Ditch In a Flash

Things move quickly nowadays. The village of yesterday is tomorrow's metropolis. Speed is a requisite, and newer methods that smack of rapidity and labor and money saving are in demand.

Ditches that once consumed many days of hand or machine labor are now being blasted out in almost the twinkling of an eye. By degrees man is learning to adopt some of nature's simple, but mighty, forces. And the gulches and valleys that old Mother Earth has created by her natural upheavals and eruptions are being duplicated in a smaller way by some of the more progressive and up to date farmers.

In a cartridge of dynamite in the middle hole of the line of charged holes and fired will do the work.

A single row of holes can usually be depended upon to excavate a ditch from seven to nine feet wide and about thirty to forty inches deep. Where larger ditches are required the holes can be made deeper and loaded heavier, or two or more lines of holes, spaced from three to four feet apart, can be used. Incidentally the holes can be made in the roughest kind of swamp or in food muck beds, where other methods of ditching are practically impossible.

When the soil is dry or the weather is too cold to use the propagated method of blasting described above few

Explosives In Road Building

One of the newer methods of road building that is fast winning the endorsement of the better versed contractor is that of employing dynamite for reducing the heavy work.

Grading through hard ground or rock, for instance, is tedious and requires time and labor. The use of dynamite for blasting such material is a welcome relief. Both rock and hard clay may be loosened in the cut by well placed charges of explosives if holes are drilled into the ground a little way up the bank and loaded. Careful spacing and loading for electrically fired blasts will result in bringing down both classes of materials in the best possible manner.

In loosening shale and rock to facilitate hand or steam shovel work dynamite is also very effective, while stumps may be blasted from the roadside just as though they were being removed from a field to be cleared and cultivated.

Boulders also are easily shattered by suitable loading and when of hard rock may be crushed into surfacing stone. The side ditches as well as the long outfall ditches can also be blasted in keeping with the nature of the ground. In fact, there are no limits practically to the many uses and advantages of dynamite for road building when careful and thoughtful attention is given to the work.

Incidentally the planting of shade trees for roadside improvement and attractiveness is greatly facilitated by the judicious use of a little dynamite. It is a recognized fact that trees planted in blasted holes grow much more rapidly, and progress more favorably than those planted in the average spade dug ground.

Straightening Streams With Dynamite

The ancient Egyptians were noted for their crops because, as history states, they "sowed their seeds in the Nile." This does not mean that they actually cast the seed in the river. At certain seasons of the year the Nile overflows its banks, depositing on either shore a rich silt or earth that is highly conducive to bumper crops, and the wise ancient Egyptians, realizing this, profited thereby.

Water is a necessity. The thinnest brooks up to the largest rivers play an important part in the scheme of things inasmuch as they are nature's way of both irrigation and drainage. But being formed according to nature's dictates their courses do not always jibe with man's desires or needs.

Rock ledges impede their progress. Overhanging stumps and trees retard

The good people of Covington and Newport are endeavoring to get through some needed legislation at Frankfort, looking toward closing the saloons on Sunday in these two cities. The rum-dums of Cincinnati flood both of these two Kentucky cities on Sunday, to the disgrace and disgust of decent people. The law-abiding citizens of the State heartily wish that the present Legislature will give these splendid people the relief they seek.

Tax bill introduced in the Legislature for the benefit of Col. John R. Allen, the busy, money-making lawyer, of Lexington, who is also Commonwealth's Attorney to create the office of Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney, in counties of the state having second class cities therein, of which Lexington is one, should be promptly defeated. We hope to see Mr. Bullock, as well as our Senator, leading the fight against it.

The "Gag Rule" passed in the House of Representatives for the bringing out of bills from the Committees is no credit to the intelligence and fairness of that body of law-makers.

STANLEY is proving himself a real Governor. Every step taken by him so far has been both wise and expedient.

KENTUCKY'S EARLIEST EXPLORERS AND HUNTERS.

The following items of early Kentucky history is furnished by Jim Maret, President of Boone Way, Mt. Vernon, Ky., who will shortly publish a history of Daniel Boone, and of Trails and Highways, etc.

"In 1750 a small party of Virginians from Orange and Culpeper counties. Dr. Thomas Walker, Ambrose Powell and Colby Chew, among them, entered what is now the State of Kentucky at Cumberland Gap, being the first white men known to have visited interior or Eastern Kentucky. Isaac Shelby, the first Governor of the State, stated that in 1770 he was on Yellow Creek, a mile or two from Cumberland mountain, in company with Dr. Walker and others, when Walker told him of having been upon that spot twenty years before, and 'yonder beech tree bears the record of it; Ambrose Powell marked his name and the year upon it, you will find it there now.' Col. Shelby examined the tree, and found upon it in large, legible characters, A. Powell-1750. The party traveled down Holston River, crossed over the mountains into Powell's Valley, thence thru Cumberland Gap, and along the route afterwards celebrated as the Wilderness Road, until they arrived at the Hazel Patch, now Laurel county. Here the company divided. Dr. Walker and his party turned northward, to the Kentucky river, which he called Louisa river, followed it down some distance without finding much level land, he became disappointed and turned up one of its branches to its head and crossed over the mountains to New river in Virginia to a place now called Walker's Meadow.

It is said that Walker was making for the Ohio river, but bore too far to the East. The party then returned to their homes. Dr. Walker later surveyed out the border line between Tennessee and Kentucky. Tennessee was first called the District of Washington.

OTHER EXPLORERS AND HUNTERS
In 1761, a company of 15 men, among them Wallen, Skaggs,

Newman, Blevins and Cox, part of them from Pennsylvania, the others from Virginia, went thru the Moccasin Gap in Clinch mountain, established a station on Wallin's creek, now Lee county, Virginia, and hunted there for eighteen months. They named Powell's mountain, Powell's river and Powell's valley, from seeing the name of Ambrose Powell inscribed on a tree near the mouth of Wallen's creek, on Powell river. They gave names to Clinch river, Copper ridge, Newmans, Wallen's and Skaggs ridges. There is a Skaggs trace and Skaggs creek in Rockcastle county. They passed thru Cumberland Gap. How far they penetrated into Kentucky on this trip is not known.

EXPEDITION OF 1763.

The same company of hunters in the Fall of 1763 again passed thru Cumberland Gap and spent the season in hunting on the Cumberland river. The next year, 1764, was made on Rockcastle river, not far from the Crab Orchard. (The town of Crab Orchard took its name from the innumerable thickets or orchards of crab apple trees, which when in bloom the perfume therefrom could be smelled miles away.) These hunters visited these parts a number of times thereafter.

In June 1766 a party of five persons passed thru Cumberland Gap. These men were Capt. James Smith (afterwards until his death about 1814, a prominent citizen of Bourbon county, Kentucky) Joshua Horton, Uriah Stone, Wm. Baker and a mulatto slave about 18 years old. They "found no vestige of any white man." The South branch of the Cumberland river which empties into it eight or ten miles above Nashville, they named Stone river, after one of their number.

PARTY FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

In 1767, a party from South Carolina, Isaac Lindsey and four others, came thru Cumberland Gap, to what Lindsey called Rockcastle river, from a romantic looking rock thru the fissures of which the water dript and froze in rows below. They went down the river as far as the mouth of Stone river, where they found Michael Stone, who had come hither with James Harrod, from Illinois to hunt. Later, in 1774, Harrod founded Harrodsburg or Harrodsburg. Stone settled in Bourbon county and Stone creek took its name from him.

JOHN FINDLAY 1767

In 1767 John Findlay made an expedition into Kentucky for the purpose of hunting and trading with the Indians. From Cumberland Gap the warriors path "leading from the Cumberland ford, along the broken country on the eastern branch of the Kentucky river, and so across the Licking river, toward the mouth of the Scioto." Two years later 1769, Findlay conducted Daniel Boone, John Stewart and three others, from their homes on the Yadkin river in North Carolina to a spot "on Red river, the northernmost branch of the Kentucky river, where John Findlay had formerly been trading with the Indians where on June 7th, 1769, from the top of an eminence they saw with pleasure the beautiful level of Kentucky." This point is located about 30 miles East of Richmond.

BOONE CAPTURED BY INDIANS
While out hunting, one day, Boone and Stewart were made prisoners. After several days they made their escape and upon returning to their camp found it plundered and their comrades "dispersed or gone home." Findlay made his way back to the settlements. Stewart was shortly afterward killed by Indians; but not until Squire Boone and another adventurer had found their way from North Carolina to his brother's camp in the cane land. The tragic death of Stewart frightened the new comer, and he "returned home by himself." The brothers were thus left alone in the wilderness. On the first of May 1770 Squire Boone "returned home for a new recruit of horses and ammunition, leaving Daniel alone without bread, salt or sugar, or even a horse or dog. While thus alone, in May 1770 he wandered to the hills that skirted the Ohio river, and for the first time in life looked down upon that majestic stream. Squire returned July 27th with horses and ammunition; and the brothers, "monarchs of all they surveyed," hunted thru and explored the country until March 1771, when they made their way back to their North Carolina homes. Daniel had been in Kentucky nearly three years.

Digging ditches with dynamite is simply a newer and more improved method of trench building. The method employed in wet work is simply to punch holes from eighteen to twenty-four inches deep along the line desired to ditch and then load each hole with a charge of 50 per cent straight dynamite.

Long stretches of ditch can be loaded and fired at one time. One cap placed freezing farm or stumping powder, is used in holes spread farther apart, often in large ditches as far as four or five feet. In this case each hole must be primed with an electric cap, as the explosive shock will not propagate in dry ground.

The cheapest lineal foot of small ditch is obtained by using the electric firing method and farm or stumping powder.

Getting the Dollar From Under the Stump

How Up to Date Farmers Are Easily and Economically Realizing on Land Hitherto Impossible of Cultivation.

ABOUT 400,000,000 acres of land included in farms throughout the United States are unimproved. Figuring that each acre could be made to produce at least $25 worth of produce per year, there is approximately $10,000,000,000 production being lost annually. Quite a tidy figure. And when we take into consideration that in many cases it requires only the removal of sundry stumps and boulders to make this land profitable, it certainly looks as though something might be done to save the waste. "Stumping with dynamite" is both an economical, quick and labor-saving method as well as one that is growing in popularity daily.

The method involved in the blasting of a stump is to confine a quantity of explosive in such a manner that when exploded the expanding gases will lift the stump out of the ground. To secure best results the charge should be placed in the soil well under the base of the stump at the point where the resistance offered to the force of the explosion will be equal on all sides.

Where the soil is of a heavy clay or plastic nature a slow-acting powder is preferable, such as farm powder or stumping powder. Where the earth is sandy or loose and is apt to permit the easy escape of gases a fast explosive, such as 40 to 60 per cent dynamite should be used. The condition of the soil with respect to moisture also has a great influence upon the amount of work that a certain quantity of powder will do. After heavy rains, when the earth is saturated to the base of the stump and the action of fast stumps is a most favorable condition.

No set rules as to the amount of powder necessary to blast a certain kind or size of stump can be given, since different conditions govern all cases. Two stumps of the same size, kind and age of cut when one is grown on well drained soil where the roots must penetrate a great depth for water and the other is grown on soil where there is always water near the surface, will demand different treatment for extraction. The older stumps, especially if from timber free from resin, require less powder. The exact amount necessary for set conditions can, however, be readily determined with a little experimenting.

Few tools and supplies are required. A one and one-half inch wood saw with a shank about four and one-half feet long, a medium sized crowbar, a round pointed shovel and a wooden stumping stick, together with the powder, fuses and caps, will serve to all the bill.

 George Mullins and Fred Elkins, charged with holding up and robbing J. H. Browning and a brakeman by the name of Newland, were brought here Wednesday night and tried before Judge Ballard who held Mullins over under a $750 and Elkins a $500 bond which they failed to give. Since both parties are out on paroles from the pen, the authorities will notify the Prison Commissioners and if returned to the pen to serve out their full time. Mullins for murder and Elkins for grand larceny, the charge now against them will be held for trial when they have completed their full time. At the best it means several more years in the pen for both of the boys.

U. G. Baker & Son is the style of Mt. Vernon's new wholesale grocery firm which began business only last week. We have long since thought that Mt. A SCHOOL OF METHODS AT MT. VERNON.

Mr. Roy K. Roadruck—one of the State Sunday School workers for the schools of the Christian churches in Kentucky—was in Mt. Vernon Monday night, to confer with some of our local workers about plans for a school of methods to be held here in the spring.

Our Eleventh Sunday School District is a part of the Eleventh Congressional District and comprises the following counties: Kockcastle, Laurel, Knox, Bell, Whitley and Harlan. In 1914, a School of Methods was held at London. And the one to be held here from May 29th to June 2nd will be for the Eleventh District.

Our school invited the School of Methods for this year, and we are very fortunate in securing it, as other schools in the district were anxious for it. The school entertaining the School of Methods has the advantage of being able to have all of its workers present, and where such schools have been held, the local school has had a permanent growth.

This will be a real school. The State Sunday School Association will furnish a faculty of three or four members. There will be a schedule of time and subject, consisting of six or seven periods, each day, in which as many subjects will be presented, in lecture form. Each instructor will present that phase of the work on which he has specialized.

An invitation will be extended to all of our local Sunday School teachers and workers, regardless of church affiliations, to be in all of these sessions. And every teacher, Sunday School or otherwise, who is earnestly striving to cause some one to know or to want to know, feels the need of the best methods that the age has. This school, though not as large as some, will present some of the very best methods that the Sunday school world has developed to date.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Art Department of the Woman's Club was held at Langdon School on Friday, January fourteenth. Roll call was responded to by names of pictures of French artists. Very interesting papers were read by Mrs. W. J. Sparks, Mrs. J. W. Brown and Mrs. E. S. Albright on Corot, Rosa Bonheur and Millet, respectively. After the reading of the papers, the masterpieces of the above named artists were presented by means of the radiolight, and were most interestingly interpreted by Miss Stewart. Very few of the members were able to attend, but every one present enjoyed the excellent program.

The next meeting of the Club, Friday January twenty-eighth at 3 o'clock, will be in charge of the civics committee of which Mrs. Cleo W. Brown is chairman. Mrs. R. A. Sparks and Mrs. Bethurum will be the speakers.

The stockholders of The Bank of Mt. Vernon held their annual meeting Monday. The following officers were re-elected: Jonas McKenzie, Pres.; G. S. Griffin, Vice-Pres.; W. L. Richards, Cashier, and V. C. Tate, Assistant Cashier. The directors are Jonas McKenzie, G. S. Griffin, S. H. Martin, L. T. Stewart, E. S. Albright, W. L. Richards and C. C. Williams. The year of 1915, as bad as it was proved a very successful one for The Bank of Mt. Vernon. A dividend of 7 per cent was paid stockholders and an amount equal to 6 per cent was left as undivided profits. The bank already has a surplus of $6,500. Those connected with the institution are specially pleased with the splendid year's showing.

Mr. James McCall and Mrs. Sarah Riddle were married Monday. The wedding was set for several days before but both parties were sick, and the bride was in bed sick when the ceremony was performed. The groom had recovered from his illness and when he returned to Mt. Vernon Monday from his brother's where he had been sick, and found his intended in bed with no one in particular to wait upon her, he insisted that they marry at once, so that he could care for her. The license was secured and Judge Ballard called whotied the knot. This is one case where we heartily endorse the sick bed marriage, and we want to commend Mr. McCall for his nobleness of purpose as well as being anxious as he was to have the nuptial knot tied as early as possible. Mrs. McCall, who has been suffering with a severe case of the grip, is some better. The Signal extends its very best wishes.

WHY CHANGE DOCTORS?

MUST HURRY TO CATCH UP.

Kentucky is making progress with her present school system, but it is not nearly fast enough. She is so far down the line in the list of the states in educational matters that she must hurry even faster than she is now going to merely catch up with the main portion of the procession. The main obstacle to the rapid progress is the necessity for the changing of the Superintendent of Public Instruction every four years. No two school men, no matter how well equipped they may be for this most important position, can have exactly the same ideas and ideals. So, while a new Superintendent is striving to adjust himself to the work begun by the man leaving the office, or deciding what changes are to be made, the school machinery must at least slow down and time is lost.

There isn't a man, woman or child in Kentucky who doesn't wish to secure better rural schools and a more efficient school system. The biggest single thing they can do is to take the system out of politics. The next biggest thing is to allow the superintendent to succeed himself, if he has shown that he can really do constructive work. No one wishes the child-life of the state hampered or hurt by their having poor schoolhouses or a weak system. The Superintendent is not to blame because he is absolutely tied hand and foot by the Constitution of Kentucky. If he is set free, both the man and the system will be placed in a position to do real work for the school children of the state.

WE SHOULDN'T WORRY A MINUTE

"I wish my foresight was as good as my hindsight," exclaimed the farmer as he pushed his pass book through the grating to the banker.

"Hog market bothering you?" asked the banker, sympathetically.

"No, it's the children this time."

"None of them sick, I hope?" continued the banker.

"No, but they have all grown up faster than I calculated they would. Here's Mary, that was a baby only the other day, seems to me, and now she's through all the grades and ready for High School. Say, why under the sun haven't we got a High School in this neighborhood?"

"Oh, I don't know. Seems to me there's lots of reasons. First and foremost, we haven't ever had one, and, in the second place, taxes are just about as high as folks will stand for. Anyhow, you're doing pretty well, and so am I, so what's the use of worrying about it?"

"Confound you and the way you look at the whole proposition," exclaimed the farmer as he brought his fist down on the counter. "You say it will raise the taxes. I know that just as well as you or anybody else, I reckon. I know, too, that I myself have made that same old, lame excuse for not having better schools. You say I'm making money on the farm, and you're making money here in the bank, so we shouldn't worry a bit. Man alive, the trouble with both of us and a lot of other folks is, that we've let the dollar in our eye get so big that we can't see around it at all. We're self-satisfied and we're willing to farm and to bank and make money and let things kinder drift."

"Say, look here," exclaimed the banker, "you're doing a whole lot of talking, but you haven't given me any real idea of what started this big spasm of yours."

"I'll tell you how it started. It started with the kids at home getting big and demanding things for themselves. It all happened before I had any idea that they were any older than old enough to do much thinking for themselves. Let me tell you, kids ain't half the fools grown folks think they are. As I told you awhile ago, Mary's finished at the little country school at the cross roads and she says she's going to High School. Of course, it wouldn't be a hard matter for us to send Mary off to school, but by the time she'll be ready to graduate from High School, both of the other children would be away from home, too, getting an education."

"Of course, neither my wife nor I want to be left on the farm by ourselves. To tell you the honest truth, my wife is going to go with the kids when they go, and you can bet your bottom dollar I'm not going to try to hold down the farm by myself. All of this simply means that I've got to pull up stakes and move into town somewhere when I'm just in my prime and the farm paying better than ever before. I don't know a blessed thing I can do in town, so I'll have to loaf and potter around and worry a lot because I'll know the farm won't be kept up like I've kept it."

"But why do you say that you have got to go?" asked the banker.

"Because," answered the farmer slowly and thoughtfully, "because I believe way down deep in my heart that every child in this country that wants the advantages of a good education is entitled to it, if it is possible to give it to him. I wouldn't do anything on top of this earth to hinder any of my children from getting all the education they want."

"What's bothering me now is that every mother son of us has been pretty short-sighted, to say the least. Why haven't I, why haven't you had gumption enough to see this thing coming toward us all the time? I've been busy farming and you've been busy watching your money grow as it goes out over the counter and comes back again. I'm a successful farmer and everybody knows you are a dandy banker, but I'm mighty sure and certain that we ain't just what we ought to be as parents."

"But you forget there's another side to—"

"Hold on a minute, Mr. Banker, hold on. There ain't any other side to this question; there never was and never will be any other side to it. I want to tell you that I've been running this thing over in my mind a whole lot in the past few weeks and there ain't any other side to the question. The whole thing is as plain as the nose on your face. Here it is. The child has a mind and it is the only thing that'll save it from being a nobody and a failure in life. So when the child says it wants that mind trained neither you nor I nor anybody else has got any right to get in the child's way."

"Perhaps there is something in what you say. It might—"

"Perhaps, nothing," exclaimed the farmer. "You and I and every other man down in this part of the country have hurt and crippled enough fine children who simply couldn't get away so they could be really educated. Besides we have run lots and lots of the best of them away and they didn't ever come back, either. Mine are going away, and I don't know whether they will ever come back, and I can't blame them one bit. Perhaps, you say, perhaps, my goodness, man, here we are living in an age when an education is everything and we kill all chances in life for our children before they really get started in life. Perhaps, why we ain't as good as painted savages, because they don't know any better."

DON'T DIVIDE PIKE COUNTY

BECAUSE: The people of Pike County do not want it.

It will mean a new pauper county which will be a burden to the rest of the state.

It will more than double the taxes of the people of both the new and the old counties.

22,000 of the 3,000 voters of the proposed new county are opposed to same.

The movement to divide the county originated and is financed by people living outside of the county and some of them out of the State.

Wallace J. Williamson, of Williamson, West Virginia, and his son, Ben Williamson, of Catlettsburg, Boyd County, Kentucky, will be the chief beneficiaries if the new county is formed. They will make over $500,000 out of the new county seat, which will be on their land. These same people divided Logan County, West Virginia, and made $1,000,000 thereby. They now seek to divide Pike County and further enrich themselves at the expense of the State of Kentucky and Kentuckians.

Out of the large number of men employed by the Williams on "lobby" in favor of this bill, there is NOT ONE 1/12 N of the proposed new county.

It will delay the time when either county can have good roads, or improve its schools.

It will inconvenience more people than it will benefit.

Be Energetic Not Languid.

Medical Authority Tells What This Condition Really Means.

When you are languid and listless, or lack ambition or feel so melancholy that life seems scarcely worth the living, it is absolutely necessary that you take treatment to correct these subnormal conditions, because you are suffering from derangements of a vital organ," declares one of the greatest medical authorities.

The "tired feeling" means a good deal more than is generally realized. It is not laziness, it is a physical ailment that needs correcting quickly before it becomes even more serious by taking a firm hold on you. It is your duty.

Tanlac, the tonic, appetizer and invigorant, that builds new tissues, vitalizes the blood and acts so favorably on ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and cures all the ailments of the mucous membranes is a powerful and a correct remedy. It is the result of the latest scientific research and is a powerful and a correct remedy.

Men and women, from the highest to the lowest walks of life, everywhere are testifying to the relief Tanlac has brought them. No other remedy has ever won such great endorsements that can only come from superlative merits.

Tanlac is now being introduced at the drugstore of Chas. C. Davis can also be obtained at Livingston at the Central Drug Co., and at John Robin's Drugstore, Brookhead, Ky., where it is explained daily to many people.

THE SHOCK WAS FATAL.

"A fellow dropped into the office the other day and ordered the paper, and we were glad said it was worth the money to any man of intelligence and we were tickled. Said it was the mainstay of the town, and we were superlative. Said it was the greatest booster and the most reliable townbuilder and developer in this whole community, and we yelled with joy. Paid for his paper, and—we slid gently to the floor in blissful unconsciousness. Nature had reached its limit."

Hopewell

Mrs. Katie Baker and Mrs. Thelma Barnes spent Saturday and Sunday with their cousin and aunt, Mrs. Alfred Barnes.—Rev. Thomas Clifford was re-elected pastor of Hopewell church for the year 1916.—Miss Bertha Carmical has returned home after spending three weeks at Mt. Vernon.—Mrs. Ted Harper and children, of Spiro, are visiting Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. Wm. Nicoley, at this place.—Rev. James Barnes spent Thursday night with his son, Alfred Barnes.—Ramey Shepherd is numbered with the sick.—Rev. Carmical filled his regular appointment at Hummel Grove Saturday night Sunday.—Mrs. James Nicoley and children spent several days with Mrs. Wm. Barnes last week.—Mrs. John Marler and Mrs. John W. Kirby are both numbered with the sick.—The Baptist will hold their Fifth Sunday meeting at Livingston in this month.—Mr. J. M. Smith has moved to Livingston.—Mr. Van der Wilt will close his school at this place the first of February. We think the school will still continue, and last Sunday was as rough time as we ever remember seeing.—Mrs. Nicoley bought of Jam. Arnold a new cow and calf for fifty dollars.—Notwithstanding the rough weather the Sunday school at this place continues, but not so large as attended.—Mrs. Thomas Penix is very sick.

Much surprise was occasioned among his host of friends here when news came from Harrodsburg early in the week that Ed C. Walton had sold the Harrodsburg Leader, which he bought only a couple of weeks ago, to Owen McIntyre, Arthur W. Timoney and E. A. Hundley, of Danville. Mr. Walton and family are already back in Stanford and their friends hope they will never leave here again. Mr. Walton has a business deal in view here, which caused him to sell out at Harrodsburg. He still thinks that Stanford is the very best town on the map and hopes to locate here permanently. The new owners of the Advocate, with the exception of Mr. Hundley, are well known newspaper men; Mr. McIntyre being the junior editor of the Danville Advocate and in active charge of that paper while senior W. V. Richardson, has been in Washington as the private secretary to Senator Ollie James.—Interior Journal.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 4 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded, gray hair, and remove dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Judge Ralph W. Gilbert, of Shelbyville, has formally declined to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district.—This leaves an open field for Hon. George L. Pickett, of Shelbyville, who has been very prominently mentioned as a candidate. Mr. Pickett will announce his candidacy in the next few days. Pickett is one of the few men in the district who can defeat Congressman Helm. Pickett lives in Helm's stronghold and is very popular, and it goes without saying that he will carry Shelby, A. person and Spencer counties by overwhelming majorities. He served two terms as County Attorney of Shelby county and is a member of the lower house of the Legislature in the General Assembly, in which he has taken high rank as the chairman of the committee on railroads and of the committee on rules. He is a cousin to Gov. Stanley and is closely related to several prominent families in Lincoln county. It is said that he will probably carry Lincoln.—Danville Advocate.
